Sena turns to iPhone cases with five models

Joining the rush to iPhone cases is Sena Cases, which has announced five new product lines. The Dockable cases are said to be the only ones on the market which allow iPhones to be docked while protected; the MagnetFlippers, meanwhile, have a hinged cover that can be flicked open. The LeatherSkin cases simply protect against scratches, but the Elegas Pouches have belt clips, and the UltraSlim Pouches are designed to be as thin as possible for easier pocket storage. Only the Elegas are currently available; prices for these range from $40 to $50, with nine different color options. Other cases should cost anywhere between $30 and $52.
