

Sena releases line of iPhone cases

Posted by Dennis Sellers ■ Jul 10, 2007 at 7:17am

Sena Cases has launched a line of luxury, protective leather cases for the iPhone. It has handcrafted iPhone cases in five styles. The Sena Dockable (shown) is a leather case custom with magnetic closure.

The US$52 case allows the iPhone to be placed in its docking station without removing the device from the case. The Dockable is comprised of European Napa leather and includes a soft velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with a removable tab.

The $52 MagnetFlipper offers device port openings for all necessary functions. Utilizing gravity, the cover is engineered with a hinged bottom and magnetic fastening system at top, allowing the cover to be flipped out of the way with a flick of the thumb and enabling the user to answer the iPhone.

The $42 LeatherSkin is a form-fitting case comprised of ultra-thin leather providing a soft layer of "skin" to protect the iPhone from scratches. The Elegia Pouch ($39.99 to $49.99) touts a snug design, ratchet belt clip, extra padding and velvet lining.

The $29 UltraSlim Pouch is a lean case made of leather and micro suede lining. It's designed for men carrying the iPhone in a pant or jacket pocket.

Leave a comment:

Please do your best to keep the comments on topic

 Advanced Search

Article Information

Comment on this Article

Print this Article

Email this Article

Digg This

Contributor

Contributor Dennis Sellers

Dennis has been a newspaper/editor reporter (seven years) and teacher (seven years). He has over 3,500 magazine, newspaper and online articles to his credit. He has also covered the Mac and tech industries for over a decade for such online publications as MacCentral, MacMinute and now MacsimumNews.

Recent Articles

QuartzCube is new rotating video cube for Mac OS X

Audi announces iPhone support

Epson launches 'world's fastest document inkjet printer'

Goodwill teams with electronic recyclers to recycle eWaste

Intel's Penryn processors coming Nov. 11

Study: GPS adoption rates relatively low

DLO releases HybridCase for second gen iPod nano

MacOffice Pro is new office suite for Mac OS X

 Advanced Search

Sena releases line of iPhone cases

Posted by Dennis Sellers Apple ico Jul 10, 2007 at 7:17am image Sena Cases has launched a line of luxury, protective leather cases for the iPhone. It has handcrafted iPhone cases in five styles. The Sena Dockable (shown) is a leather case custom with magnetic closure.

Freeway 4

The US$52 case allows the iPhone to be placed in its docking station without removing the device from the case. The Dockable is comprised of European Napa leather and includes a soft velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with a removable tab.

The $52 MagnetFlipper offers device port openings for all necessary functions. Utilizing gravity, the cover is engineered with a hinged bottom and magnetic fastening system at top, allowing the cover to be flipped out of the way with a flick of the thumb and enabling the user to answer the iPhone. The $42 LeatherSkin is a form-fitting case comprised of ultra-thin leather providing a soft layer of "skin" to protect the iPhone from scratches. The Elegia Pouch ($39.99 to $49.99) touts a snug design, ratchet belt clip, extra padding and velvet lining.

The $29 UltraSlim Pouch is a lean case made of leather and micro suede lining. It's designed for men carrying the iPhone in a pant or jacket pocket.