

iPhone Central

Everything iPhone!
iphone.macworld.com

July 10, 2007 10:11 am ET Macworld

Related Topics: iPhone

Print

Sena Cases offers luxury leather iPhone cases

By Peter Cohen

Sena Cases has announced a new line of luxury leather cases designed for Apple's new iPhone. Prices range from $29 to $52 depending on the design. The new Eléga Pouch is now shipping; others are available for pre-order.

The Eléga Pouch runs $39 - $49 and is available in a wide variety of finishes and colors. It sports a snug design that holds the iPod, along with a ratchet-style belt clip, extra padding and velvet lining.

The $52 MagnetFlipper Case also features a velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with removable tab. It has a flip-top lid that stays in place using a hidden magnet, and offers port openings for all necessary functions.

The LeatherSkin costs $42 and is a form-fitting case made of ultra-thin leather to protect the iPhone from scratches. It's designed to offer a tight fit to enhance the curves of the iPhone.

The $52 Dockable touts a magnetic closure, and utilizes a design that lets you place the phone on its docking station without having to remove it from the case. It uses a soft velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with removable tab, and incorporates openings for the earbuds, speaker and camera.

The UltraSlim Pouch costs $29. It is designed for users who don't want to bulk up their iPhone — it uses form-fitting leather and micro suede lining; ideal for users who are carrying their iPhone in their pants or a jacket pocket, according to Sena.

EMAIL THIS STORY TO A FRIEND

Print

RELATED STORIES

Related Topics: iPhone

- News
  - WaterField unveils new iPhone cases MacCentral, August 01, 2007
  - iSkin Revo ships for iPhone MacCentral, July 27, 2007
- Weblogs
  - Mac 911: The iPhone, Gmail, and spam Macworld, July 09, 2007
  - Phone frenzy Macworld, June 14, 2007
- First Looks
  - First look: The iPhone and iPod accessories Macworld, July 02, 2007

RECENT STORIES

- From the Lab: Core 2 Duo Mac mini tests Wednesday
- Intuit: Reports of Quicken's Mac death exaggerated Wednesday
- Beef up security Wednesday
- Wi-Fi USB antenna promises access up to 1,000 feet Wednesday
- First Look: iWeb '08 Wednesday
- Cider gains use as a game piracy tool Wednesday
- NTRconnect offers remote Mac, PC control Wednesday
- Mac 911: Walled-off iWeb Wednesday
- Apple lays AppleWorks to rest Wednesday
- Macworld Podcast: iMac roundtable Wednesday
- GPS use not that high, survey shows Wednesday
- DLO offers HybridShell case for iPod nano Wednesday
- Energi To Go comes to iPod Wednesday
- Sonos adds Sirius radio to music system Wednesday
- Epson unveils new inkjet all-in-ones Wednesday

Sena Cases offers luxury leather iPhone cases

By Peter Cohen

Sena Cases has announced a new line of luxury leather cases designed for Apple's new iPhone. Prices range from $29 to $52 depending on the design. The new ElÃ©ga Pouch is now shipping; others are available for pre-order.

The ElÃ©ga Pouch runs $39 - $49 and is available in a wide variety of finishes and colors. It sports a snug design that holds the iPod, along with a ratchet-style belt clip, extra padding and velvet lining.

The $52 MagnetFlipper Case also features a velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with removable tab. It has a flip-top lid that stays in place using a hidden magnet, and offers port openings for all necessary functions.

The LeatherSkin costs $42 and is a form-fitting case made of ultra-thin leather to protect the iPhone from scratches. It's designed to offer a tight fit to enhance the curves of the iPhone.

The $52 Dockable touts a magnetic closure, and utilizes a design that lets you place the phone on its docking station without having to remove it from the case. It uses a soft velvet lining and ratchet belt clip with removable tab, and incorporates openings for the earbuds, speaker and camera.

The UltraSlim Pouch costs $29. It is designed for users who don't want to bulk up their iPhone — it uses form-fitting leather and micro suede lining; ideal for users who are carrying their iPhone in their pants or a jacket pocket, according to Sena.